

Good afternoon,

Robin Williams' 5th year anniversary of his passing on August 11th is just a vivid reminder of how beloved he was and how sorely he is missed. He will forever be remembered for his humor and love of family and friends. And even though he struggled with depression and addiction, his ability to make us laugh will never be forgotten. A gift he continues to want to share even today. It is great to see how alive Robin continues to be in Spirit.

His anniversary was especially meaningful to us given the fact that Stacey Lynn Cripps, a prominent local Celebrity Spiritual Medium, recently did a Live Podcast interview on NextonScene and Robin Williams himself came through loud and clear and he has continued to do so since. Stacey connects regularly with Musicians/Entertainers such as Prince, Aretha Franklin, Michael Jackson, Elvis Presley, John Lennon, Whitney Houston, Davy Jones and more. But Robin has been recently making his presence known more and more to her. In fact, he has stated he's one of Stacey's biggest fans! We feel he's doing this not only to connect with other comedians today, as many of her entertainers strive to do, but also to have an opportunity to connect with his loved ones. We would welcome the opportunity to discuss this further with you. Give us 10 minutes via a call and we can show you the strong connection that Stacey has with Robin. Email me at diana@virtualwordpublishing.com or call me at (954) 971-4025 to set it up.

Here's the Interview - <https://bit.ly/2OVYZLY> At approximately the 33 minute mark Robin comes in. Of note is prior to that we had Aretha Franklin and George Michael (who Stacey confirmed at one time did a song together, which they did) Gene Kelly, Judy Garland, Michael Jackson, and Prince. As Stacey said, "Robin Williams is very strong."

Here are just a few happenings on the live Facebook event.

- He appeared first giving his Nanu Nanu sign from Mork and Mindy. Stacey said that he still loves to be a goof.
- He mentioned how he was on that show Happy Days, and then got into Mork and Mindy, then did stand-up, and then got into the movie business. He said he is always open to receiving.
- During the show, Stacey saw a bigger man with him who she didn't recognize at the time. She stated she was seeing a Weither, Winters. Big guy. Robin stated his last name was "Winters." Robin continued how he learned from him. He was his "hero" and Robin said, "everyone needs heroes." One who attended the event later on mentioned Jonathan Winters and that was exactly who was with him. That's the big guy with bald head. Stacey shared how once we figured it out, they both started laughing. Robin mentioned that one of his best days was meeting him for the first time.
- Jonathan was quiet and allowed Robin to come forth the most. Showing they were on a talk show, sitting next to one another and laughing. They help a lot of comedians get started even today. Those that are ripe for the picking. Those that have been doing the work for a while, they help them get to the next level. Great to see the duo connecting even today and, of course, looking back we know that Jonathan Winters was indeed on Mork and Mindy with him in the later years of the show.
- A question was asked from the audience. It was "Does Robin think she would be good at stand-up comedy?" His response was, "If you work with me? If you watch me? Just tune in and I'll help you." Stacey confirmed that you can tune into their energy by watching them on YouTube and things like that. Their spirit is so strong they can connect. If one is passionate it is really easy to connect. Then Robin added saying "try improv." He's saying he wants her to go to improv. Improv first, get comfortable with not knowing and then go from there.

Stacey had another encounter with Robin when she did a live event recently. A grieving mother was in the audience. Her son in Spirit came through bringing evidence to his mother around his passing of how he took his own life, and loving messages for her and his brother. Then Robin Williams stepped forward in Spirit and told the mother, "I'm with your son and he is funny. We laugh a lot and understand one another." The grieving mother dropped to her knees and began crying stating, "I love Robin Williams, my son knows this. We used to go see him perform live many times. We are from California and one day while my son was working at McDonalds Robin walked in and my son waited on him at the counter. He asked Robin to sign his autograph for me on a McDonalds' napkin and I have it." Once again, Stacey would not have had previous knowledge about their strong connection with Robin and the mother was so grateful for his connection.

To be able to hear from those musicians/singer-songwriter entertainers who have made a dramatic impact on lives throughout their careers and want to continue to do so even today is what sets Stacey apart from so many others. As a Spiritual Medium & Mentor of the Gift of Spirit (<http://entertainmentmedium.com/>) she has been doing this for years and each year the connections just get stronger and more frequent. Such is the case with Robin.

Stacey would welcome the opportunity to talk with you and your audience about the true connections she has today and to show firsthand the Spiritual gifts she so graciously is empowered and blessed with. She especially would love to share her very unique and real connection with Robin. We also do have a Q&A we can send you that explains it in more detail as well. Let us know if you'd like to receive it.

In addition to speaking about her connection with Robin, she is also available to speak or write on any of the following topics: Gift of Spirit, Meditation, Spiritual Awakening, Spiritual Readings, Spiritual Signs, Spirit Mentoring and Manifesting with Spirit.
